

Benchmarking Reporting

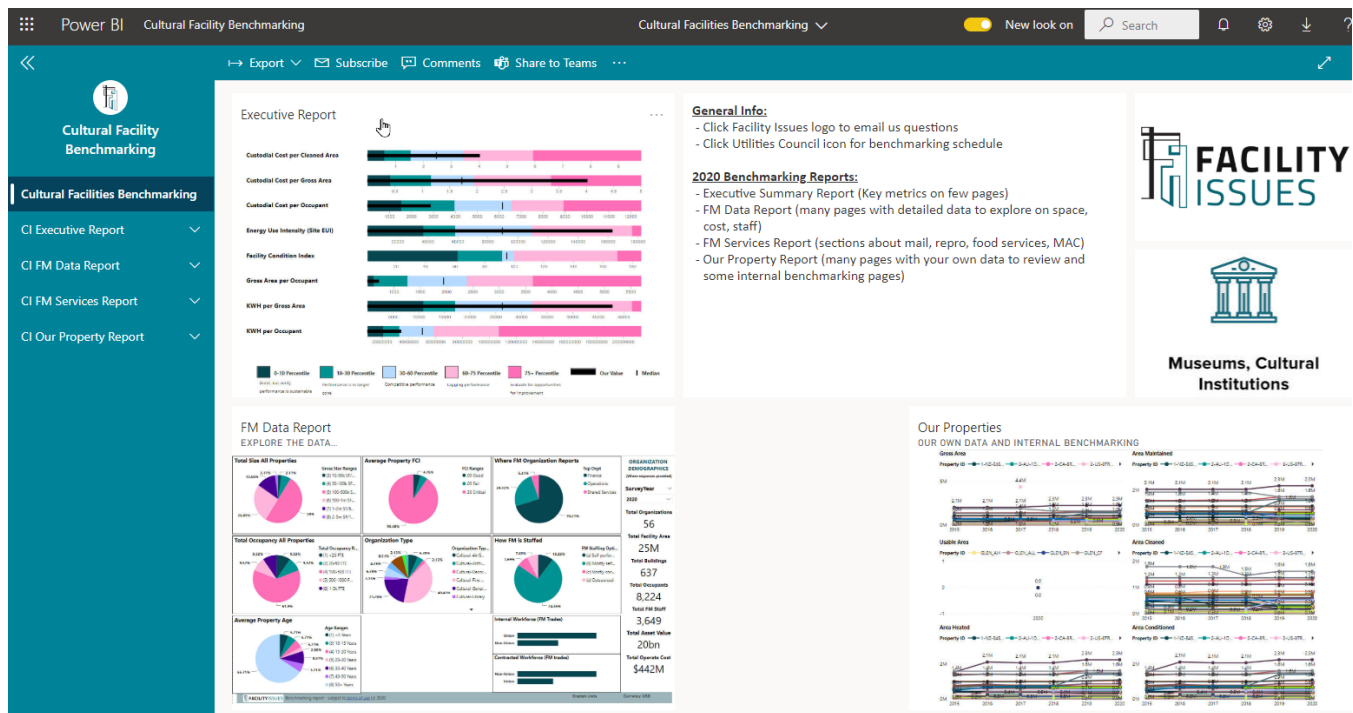

A Workshop for Cultural Facility Benchmarking Participants

Purpose and Content

The use of Microsoft’s PowerBI platform has presented new capabilities in the benchmarking reporting and data exploration but is a new tool to learn.

This virtual meeting will walk through the draft reports “live” and show how to navigate the set of reports and use different parts of the reporting interface. Participants will be able to ask questions and are encouraged to share their use cases and ask how this reporting can be applied to specific situations that they encounter.

Facility Benchmarking “App”

Facility Issues has been providing facility management benchmarking programs for many years. This online workshop is intended to help you better use your available data, including benchmarking, as part of your ongoing facility management

Who Should Attend?

Facility manager and analysts who perform the benchmarking studies or use the results.

Requirements

This is an interactive demo. Participants should be versed in the benchmarking program and have an idea of how your organization wants to use the results.

Registration

The time slot has been selected to allow participation from North America and Australia which is why it is late eastern US and early AU. Additional sessions at other times may be scheduled based on interest.

Up to 2 persons from an organization participating in a Facility Issues benchmarking program can attend for free and can register up to 1 week prior to the session. (permitting). Other interested persons can sign up for the waiting list and enroll if there are spots available two weeks prior to the session.
